Approval Authority:

ARADMD is the first approval authority on all officers filling ROTC positions whether a new accession or a current AGR member. ARADMD has access to the officers' entire records, and can screen out officers with less than stellar records, have too much active Federal Service, or otherwise do not meet the criteria listed in AR 135-18, The Active Guard Reserve Program, dated 19 JUN 03. Further, USACC recognizes the Chief, Army Reserve's priority of fill within the AGR Program. This prevents the "back door" effect.

3. APMS nomination procedure:

    1. Interested officer contacts PMO.
    2. PMO assembles nomination packet and forwards to ARADMD Liaison.
    3. ARADMD Liaison forwards the packet to USACC ACOS-R, who maintains visibility of the nomination process with ARADMD.
    4. USACC ACOS-R then forwards the packet to USACC Eastern or Western Region ACOS-R, who then forwards packet through the appropriate brigade to battalion.
    5. PMS either approves or denies the packet, with appropriate email sent to Region, with CC: to USACC. Denied nominations should include the reason for the denial.
    6. USACC ACOS-R emails approval/denial back to ARADMD ROTC Liaison.
